The world has never seen a dragon as fearsome as Soturi. His sinuous body stretches to more than ten metres in length. With a wingspan of more than twenty metres, he has the ability to fly at incredible speeds. His breath is capable of boiling the water at the bottom of the ocean, and the noise of his crash can be heard a hundred kilometres away. Arua, the kingdom of the forest elves, has a terrible problem. Their forest has a lot of dead trees. And it turns out that the forest elves think this might be caused by a forest fire started by Soturi, a dragon born in the forest. The king, in order to show the elves his love and care for the animals in the forest, decides to ask Soturi to punish the forest elf kingdom for their negligence. Soturi is a child dragon, and doesn’t understand what’s going on. He accepts the task the king gives him and goes to the forests to deal with the elves. But the elves, who have been expecting Soturi, are waiting for him… SPECIAL FEATURES: - Explore a fantasy world in a whole different dimension with it's own unique stories, lore and characters. - Two different endings that you can only get by playing the game once. - Soturi will go through a lot of different struggles throughout his adventure, and you will even be able to help him to solve some of his problems. - Collect and use different items from your world, like tools, weapons, etc… - Discover over 50 new creatures in the forest, each with its own personality, cuteness and life. - You will be able to destroy some objects that you never thought would be destroyable. - Looters love Soturi.This invention relates to the field of surgical staples and its intended use is for closing wounds made during the insertion of sutures and/or staples in various types of skin and body tissue for such purposes as wound closure, laceration repair, and skin grafts. The invention relates more particularly to an improved wound closure device designed for use in closing skin wounds with minimal discomfort to the patient. The use of surgical staples to close wounds and the like is well known in the medical arts. In general, the staples are dispensed from a hand-held, electrically-powered stapling device and applied to the skin or other tissue of the patient. Many of the prior art devices exhibit c9d1549cdd
