Audio Recorder: Audio Recorder is a powerful application that allows you to record from any source: sound card, microphone or any input device (line, tape, CD etc). You can save the recorded audio to WAV, MP3, M4A, OGG, AU, FLAC, WMA, AIFF or MKA format audio files. You can set the recorder to be run automatically every time you boot up Windows, so that the audio recorded is automatically saved to a folder of your choice. You can also set the Recorder to be run automatically every time you log off Windows. The interface is very easy to use. You only need to set the input source and set the location where the recorded audio is saved. There are also many useful settings to fine-tune the operation of the recorder. There is a timer that you can use to record audio for a set period of time, and automatically stop recording after this period, or to choose what to do when the recorded audio is too large. You can also manually stop recording. In order to prevent accidental or deliberate deletion of your audio files, the Recorder supports the built-in library which means that, when you open the library, your recorded audio will be displayed in alphabetical order and will be deleted automatically if you delete a file or audio file that is not contained in the library. Audio Recorder supports the following file formats: MP3 (high quality), OGG (ogg vorbis),
