Kiddos Get First-Ever Grammy Award posted by Mary Orbelik - Dec 4, 2018 Children from the Los Angeles-based Emmy award winning show Sesame Street got their first ever Grammy award. Sesame Street was recognized for best children's album of 2018 for Big Bird's Garden, which includes lyrics and words that "learn" about the beauty of nature as written by Grammy Award winning songwriter Bruce Vilanch. "The same producers who brought us the record that won the 2018 Emmy for Best Children's Program are also responsible for bringing it to a Grammy," Sesame Street creator Elmo said. "We're incredibly proud of how people's imaginations and creativity play out with the music, and we're happy to recognize the work of all the artists who bring that to life." Big Bird said it is a honor to get recognition at the Grammy's with the Sesame Street team. "It feels nice to be celebrated, but it's so much more special that Sesame Street music is becoming a part of people's memories and part of their lives. I

Here's a fact for you: millions of men, women and children across the globe do not have access to clean and safe water. Water is so crucial to our survival that it is considered a human right by the United Nations. However, we can't think about water without also thinking about agriculture. Plants and insects need water to survive. We eat the fruits and veggies of plants. Water is needed to make them. We drink the water we consume. Plants and animals require water. The healthier our ecosystem, the healthier our food supply will be and the cleaner our land will be. There are many beautiful pictures of water and the Earth as a metaphor of the human existence. Many times when I look at the great picture of the Earth as the face of the human existence, I think that every drop of water in the planet and the human body 09e8f5149f
