Q: PHP showing content based on time of day on the site I need help with this. I am working on a blog system with a few blogs. On the blogs there are four main categories. When a user visits one of the blogs, I want it to show the content in the categories based on the time of day. For example, in the morning, the user will see blog A, then the evening he will see blog B. So basically, it will be a feed of blogs like what you get on blogs.com. How can I accomplish this? Here is the code I have so far: Online Homes/Real Estate Directory This is the homepage. "> "> ">

A: You could try using `time()`, which will return a unix timestamp, and `strtotime()` to
