Tuesday, June 3, 2015 Categories:Part of a series of New York Houses along the Atlantic Seaboard. This is the original waterfront house of Rev. John Gibson Dade, father of Lawrence O'Toole Dade. [Note: in March 1860 a new house was built at 398 First Avenue; this is the "new" house. The Dade house was torn down in 1909 to build the New York Athletic Club.] Lawrence continued to live here until he was 40, when he moved to the family home at No. 95 Fifth Avenue. He was elected as one of the first directors of the New York Athletic Club and as an "Athlete of America." He and his wife, Mrs. Baldwin Stevens, are listed in the Blue Book and Metropolitan Gazetteer of the year 1880; the Stevens' name is listed on the First Avenue side of the house, while Dade's name is listed on the Ninth Avenue side. A qualitative interpretation of the 1970 Survey of Activities and Problems of Older Adults: a pilot study. A pilot study was conducted to examine the qualitative interpretation of the sample of U.S. adults aged 60 years and over participating in the 1970 Survey of Activities and Problems of Older Adults. Using an ecological approach to represent the human environment in three geographical areas, convenience and snowball samples of 50 and 128 respondents were interviewed. Results yielded multiple interpretations of behavior and represented a wealth of information that will enable future research projects to address these questions more efficiently and effectively. Findings are discussed with respect to the need for more in-depth research, implications for research, limitations of the study, and future research needs.Beverly Eakins Beverly Eakins (born 1941) is a former member of the Ohio House of Representatives from the 80th district.
