Elden Ring

"Inelegantly simple. But being a colorful, dynamic version of the already super-stylish Metroidvania title, Dot The I offers a winning and entertaining, if not for the "ahh, soooo cool" factor." 8/10 PUBG - "This game has plenty of depth and is easy to get into. With an insane amount of content, it seems like there is enough for a lot of people to enjoy." 8/10 PC GAMER - "An ideal setup for a massive multiplayer shooter. Playing the game feels incredibly rewarding for players of all kinds." 7.6/10 PC FRONT - "Oot The I' is a great entry to the wild field of multiplayer shooters. It's a lot of fun, and the competitive and cooperative modes are both supported." 7.9/10 Kotaku - "The matchmaking system in Dot The I is really good, but when things get crowded the games can slow to a crawl or glitch out entirely. It's a good reminder that online multiplayer only works really well when everyone is on the same page." 7/10 IGN - "Dot The I is an indie-made space shooter that reminds you of classic classics like Quake and Unreal Tournament. But like those games, this game will be as easy to pick up as it is to put down." 7.1/10 PLAY.BANG - "Dot The I is one of the most fun shooters I've played in a while. It's a first-person shooter with fantastic gameplay, a great setting, and the most unique character customization I've seen in a shooter game." 8.2/10 1C Galaxy - "An excellent game for pure joy and conquest. Take on others in ranked PUBG." 8.3/10 CULT OF MAC - "Dot The I is an FPS that is by no means the most original, but still manages to be quite enjoyable. Each of the classes that are playable provide their own unique set of skills and builds, and the maps are thematically very bff6bb2d33

Q: $scope variable scope not working on nested ng-repeat I have a json on my view where the root structure is dependent on the value of weather mode. For example: { "Response": { "cells": { "Countries": { "Snowsport": { "Country": "Almaty" }, "Crosscountry": { "Country": "Karatau" }, "Seasons": { "Country": "Summer" } }, "Country": "Moscow", "Fitness": { "Country": "Moscow", "Season": "Fitness" }, "Local": { "Country": "Moscow", "Location": "Crimea"} } } } My page represents the map below, where each country is a section in the top row and each fitness or local section is a row below. I have a function in my controller called getThingsByType(string countryType) which takes a country and returns a string. For example getThingsByType("Local") returns "Russia" and getsThingsByType("Fitness") returns "Moscow". In my HTML I have a ng-repeat on the graph div which shows countries in the top row, and rows below of cells, if the weather mode = fitness. Each row should display the cells which match a type of countryType. The following is the ng-repeat in my HTML page:
