Xforce keygen for Autodesk Inventor 2012 64bit.Q: Hooking into WPF XAML load event I want to be able to hook into an XAML file's load event. I've seen other hooks to be able to retrieve data from code-behind files, but I want to hook into the XAML. I'm in.NET 4.0 Thank you A: I don't think there is a way to capture load event in XAML, but you can have a factory method and that returns class instance for each element that gets created: public MyCustomObject { public MyCustomObject() { PropertyChanged += MyCustomObject_PropertyChanged; } // some constructor public MyCustomObject(DependencyObject o) { o.DataContext = new MyCustomObject(); } void MyCustomObject_PropertyChanged(DependencyObject d, DependencyPropertyChangedEventArgs e) { if (this == d) { // you can add code here } } } and then you can attach to event like this: public static DependencyObject CreateNewObject() { return DependencyObject.Factory.CreateInstance(GetType()); } Loaded event can be handled now. A: You can create an attached behavior that raises the event every time an element is added to the visual tree. You can subscribe to such event in a XamlResourceWrapper derived class, and set the class instance as the DataContext of the newly created element 0cc13bf012
