Caitlyn Jenner's 'I Am Cait' on Monday Draws 14.3 Million Viewers Caitlyn Jenner's new reality show, 'I Am Cait', premiered on Monday (April 4), but attracted double the audience that her reality show, 'Keeping Up With the Kardashians (KUWTK)', did in its Season 9 premiere. Caitlyn's show had nearly 14 million viewers, compared to about 7 million for KUWTK. A KUWTK special on April 3 attracted 10.5 million viewers. The three-night premiere is up 22% compared to last season's premiere of 'I Am Cait'. Season 9's opener fell 11% from the premiere of Season 8. Both new seasons premiered on E!, a sister network to NBC. E! has averaged 2.7 million viewers for the series, which often runs a full-hour. "In an era of peak TV, it's so exciting to see audiences around the country tuning into E! for the latest season of the greatest franchise in TV history — and continuing to enjoy the series," said president of E! Entertainment Jennifer Salke. "These first three episodes delivered a strong start to a very promising season." KUWTK's Season 9 premiere was the most watched of the season and drew 9.8 million viewers — a 21% jump from the Season 8 premiere. The Kardashians are the most-watched scripted series on E! The show is averaging 5.9 million viewers.Q: Is there a way to know if the filesystem is ext3 or ext4? Is there a command to know if the filesystem is ext3 or ext4 or something different? A: There is a way but it requires you to access a system file that you can typically only do with root access. In file d0c515b9f4
