Argued November 2, 1956. Decided December 5, 1956. *268 Edwin W. Hall and Thomas W. Hill (Mr. Hill orally), for plaintiffs. Thompson & Thompson (Mr. F. Philip Thompson orally), for defendants. DUNCAN, J. Plaintiff Whittington's affidavit with attached attached instruments may not be considered as part of the pleadings in the trial court, but we have considered it in making our determination as to whether or not the motion to dismiss should have been granted. O'Brien v. Estate of Gayer, 97 N. H. 106. It appears therefrom that defendant Quincy was the owner of a large tract of land containing part of the areas in which the Whittingtons claim title to their lands. When defendant Quincy contracted to sell the tract the contract was subject to the title having been determined to pass to the defendant's buyer. In the contract defendant Quincy agreed to deliver to the buyer a survey of the property showing the boundaries of the property and "what will be the exact quantity of land to be included in the purchase". The defendant Quincy obtained a title opinion from a title officer in New York. The opinion was in reference to the Quincy tract and contained the following agreement: "It is further agreed that the said survey and said title report will be in lieu of the delivery to the Purchaser of copies of the survey description and of the title reports, and said agreement shall cover and include all other and remaining lands in East Lyme, Ledyard and East Lyme, Connecticut." It further provided that the survey would be delivered to the defendant's buyer as soon as possible, and the title report would be

The effects of a community-based physical activity program for at-risk older people. This study assessed the effects of a community-based physical activity intervention designed for at-risk older people. Teneen communities in Pennsylvania, USA. The experimental group received support from a physical activity programme, while the control group received only standard services. Number of miles walked and minutes of physical activity per week; total cholesterol, high-density lipoprotein cholesterol and low-density lipoprotein cholesterol; waist circumference and body mass index. The total effects of the intervention were 15 minutes more walking per week, and 21.3 mg/dl lower total cholesterol. Intervention effects were strongest in men (20.4) and those with higher body mass index (12.5). The intervention also improved the physical condition of older women. The results suggest that physical activity programmes can be an effective and cost-effective intervention
